EXECUTIVE SUMMARY

The South Carolina Department of Transportation is nationally recognized for its accomplishments over the past decade - doing more with less, stretching available highway dollars to the limit, preserving South Carolina's highway investment as best it can.

SCDOT has maintained a level of excellence under the most difficult of circumstances. It is the lowest funded DOT in the nation, with the fifth largest state maintained highway system -- 42,000 miles of roads and bridges.

SCDOT points with pride to remarkable successes through partnerships, innovative financing, and careful management of resources. But these successes have been accomplished in the face of ever-increasing traffic congestion, escalating prices in virtually every category, and fuel tax revenues have never been enough to keep pace with the state's needs. The funding crisis the agency has warned about for years is here today.

SCDOT is dealing with high inflation of all construction materials, stagnant revenues, and less federal funding than anticipated.

Just to maintain South Carolina's roads and bridges as they are today, the state must incrementally increase funding over the next 10 years until the level of $1.5 billion per year is reached - a billion dollars more than current funding.

Over the long haul, the state needs to explore every possibility for reducing the number of miles of roads and bridges under state control, and must do a better job of maintaining the rest. The state's 25,000 miles of two-lane secondary roads are currently on a 75-year resurfacing cycle, which must be reduced to a 15-year cycle in the interest of public safety and improved mobility. The 27,000 miles of primary roads need to be on a 12-year resurfacing cycle.

South Carolina's 8,300 state-owned bridges also need attention. Twenty-two percent of the state's bridges are rated either functionally obsolete or structurally deficient, and should be replaced, but SCDOT can't put a dent in that percentage until more funds become available.

The state must also find more funding for ordinary and preventive maintenance on all its roads and bridges. The need for pothole patching, pavement markings, drainage work, sign replacement, mowing, bridge cleaning, weed control, sidewalk and shoulder repair, traffic signals and driveway apron maintenance continues to grow. SCDOT has done its best to keep up with the need with the nation's fewest number of employees per mile, but limited manpower and lack of resources are taking a toll.

And it's more than just building roads. A bright future for transportation in the state will require modernization of strategic corridors by implementing a more Intelligent Transportation System, providing transit alternatives such as Park & Ride facilities and HOV lanes, and focusing on a statewide multimodal plan.

The challenge before the state is to move from awareness to action. South Carolinians must let the public and the Legislature know the economic consequences of not taking immediate action. We have, in fact, a transportation crisis in South Carolina. The time to take action is now.

THE RECORD

The South Carolina Department of Transportation ranks 2nd in the nation in cost-effectiveness, according to a 2006 independent report by the Reason Foundation.

South Carolina ranked at the bottom of the 50 states in amount of total highway funds (state + federal) received per-mile of state owned roads. South Carolina has not adjusted its state motor fuel fee since 1987. In 2004, receipts per mile of responsibility averaged $111,854 nationally, and ranged from a low of $27,017 per mile for South Carolina to a high of $1.2 million for New Jersey, according to the report. SCDOT has the third-lowest administrative costs per state controlled mile in the nation.

Unfortunately, the study ranked South Carolina 46th out of the 50 states for having the most fatalities per vehicle miles. Only four states had a higher number of fatalities per vehicle miles.

SCDOT's bold accelerated construction project begun in 1998, has enabled the agency to move 27 years worth of road project forward within a 7 year time frame. The program combined with the State Infrastructure Bank projects approved during the same period, was a $5.3 billion program spread over 200 projects -- $3.8 billion managed by SCDOT, and $1.5 billion managed through two Construction Resource Manager (CRM) firms contracted by the agency.

Using a conservative inflation rate of 2.7 percent, it is estimated the 27 in 7 program, including the CRM Program, has saved a minimum of $3 billion in future construction costs. Motorists are driving on tomorrow's roads today, and in the process, SCDOT has saved lives and money, created jobs and added immensely to the economic growth of the state.

MAJOR PROJECTS

The South Carolina Department of Transportation in the past several years has taken on a number of major projects, demonstrating overall excellence. Among these are:

The Arthur Ravenel Jr. Bridge: Replacing the aging and functionally obsolete bridges crossing the Cooper River between Charleston and Mount Pleasant was a monumental task that had been needed for years. But the construction of the new $632 million bridge would not have been possible without partnerships to design and build the new bridge and especially the innovative partnerships to fund the project. The new design-build bridge is the largest single transportation infrastructure project completed by the SCDOT. The cable-stay bridge has a main span of 1,546 feet, and is the longest cable-stay span in North America. It opened on budget and ahead of schedule.

Gervais Street Bridge: Wiring for Lighting the historic Gervais Street Bridge in Columbia had deteriorated beyond repair and the amber lights, which had been the gateway into the city for more than 70 years, had been out for a long time. After a complicated rehabilitation of the bridge wiring, local residents organized a celebration at the base of the bridge, included a large fireworks display. South Carolina Department of Transportation Chief Photographer Rob Thompson won a national first place award from the American Association of State Highway and Transportation Officials for his photograph of the fireworks celebration at the bridge.

Lake Murray Dam: In Lexington County, the State Infrastructure Bank helped fund a $115 million project to widen SC Highway 6/60 at the Lake Murray Dam, a key access road between the towns of Irmo and Lexington. SCDOT built two new northbound lanes across the dam. Traffic is using the new lanes while the widening project is completed on the southbound lanes on top of the dam. The work is scheduled for completion in 2007.

Brockman-McClimon Road Interchange: In July, two months before the scheduled completion date, SCDOT opened the Brockman-McClimon Road Interchange for the Greenville-Spartanburg International Airport. The project, a public/private partnership, involved widening and relocating portions of the road to ease congestion and access to areas around I-85. A continuous auxiliary lane was built on I-85 to connect the two interchanges.

Urban Diamond Interchanges: SCDOT upgraded the I-85 Interchange at Exit 56 near Pelham from a conventional diamond interchange to the state's first urban diamond interchange, providing an alternate route to the Greenville-Spartanburg International Airport. The urban diamond design is being used extensively in the construction of freeways in large metropolitan areas. It requires less right-of-way and the ability to have concurrent left turns for greater capacity. The state's second urban diamond configuration project improved traffic flow at the U.S. 378 and I-26 interchange in Lexington County.

Ashley Phosphate Road Widening

Project: SCDOT made extensive use of incentive/disincentive pay and a "no-excuses" clause on its $50.6 million Ashley-Phosphate Road Widening project in the Charleston area. The project was aimed at relieving significant congestion and related safety problems. The first part was to widen approximately 4 mi. of Ashley-Phosphate from Dorchester Road to Rivers Avenue. The second was building the major interchange with I-26.

US 17 Mt. Pleasant: When completed, I-526 on and off-ramps will both be widened to 5 lanes and 3 lanes respectively, and US 17 will be widened to 6 lanes from the I-526 ramps to the Isle of Palms Connector, and the IOP Connector itself will have turning lanes added in order to maintain one lane of through traffic to the Isle of Palms.

Clemson Road Project: The Clemson Road project is the final phase in the construction of a high-capacity primary artery in northeastern Richland County. This will extend from the current end of the four-lane portion of Clemson Road, near Killian Elementary School, to connect with Killian Road near the Interstate 77 interchange.

I-73 Preferred Route: I-73 Preferred Route: On May 30, SCDOT announced a major milestone in the development of Interstate 73 -- the preferred alternative route for the southern portion of the highway and the signing of the draft Environmental Impact Statement. Project Manager Mitchell Metts said the preferred alternative - chosen from eight out of an original 141 possible routes - has the least impact to wetlands; the fewest farms impacted; the lowest cost; and the least impact to cultural resources. I-73 will be a high-speed, divided and fully-controlled access Interstate facility. A Request for Proposals (RFP) was published by SCDOT in 2006. The agency is seeking proposals to include the financing, design, right-of-way-services & acquisition, construction, operation and maintenance of the alternative route selected for I-73. SCDOT is seeking proposals that provide the public the best value, considering cost to the state, product and time for completion.

CUSTOMER SERVICE

Serving our customers well is how we earn Public Trust. Whether internally or externally, customer service is the cornerstone of our success. The SCDOT has approximately 5000 employees all across South Carolina who are committed to providing the best customer service within the resources which are available. We are pleased to serve individual citizens in solving problems and concerns with our state highway system

Maintenance 60-day Response

Guarantee: SCDOT Maintenance Offices have an objective of completing work on 95% of all requests and complaints pertaining to roads and bridges within 60 days. All safety related complaints are acted upon immediately. Through October of 2006, 98.2 percent of all work requests during the year were completed within 60 days.

ITS Development: SCDOT has developed and deployed an Intelligent Transportation System (ITS). These systems include the latest transportation technologies, such as traffic cameras, highway advisory radios, changeable message signs, local Traffic Operations Centers and a central Traffic Management Central.

There are now 250 cameras in operation. Public television stations, WIS in Columbia, WSPA in Spartanburg, WYYF in Greenville, and WCSC in Charleston use live feed from the traffic cameras in their locale. These stations are also linked to SCDOT's web site. SCDOT also provides live feed to the South Carolina Emergency Management Office and to the Department of Public Safety.

SCDOT uses 300 side-fire microwave speed detectors, 141 automatic traffic recorders, nearly 125 changeable message signs and two-dozen highway advisory radios for managing daily traffic operations as well as coastal evacuations.

DBE, Special Programs: SCDOT is one of twelve states selected to participate in a national pilot project that will focus on opportunities for women and minority-owned businesses. The concept is to engage in new partnerships and provide a comprehensive, one-stop resource for workforce development and technical assistance programs for South Carolina's multicultural underutilized DBE communities. The programs offered under these initiatives are designed to help increase the participation by certified business firms in the SCDOT's pre-construction and construction areas. A few of the programs planned for implementation includes a Business Development Academy and Entrepreneurial Development Institute (EDI). The DBE firms who are a part of the Academy will be given the tools to strengthen their capability and capacity for the transportation contracting industry. EDI is a unique and innovative training program designed to provide hands-on, practical training geared toward realistic situations. A site visit is incorporated to build the skill level of business owners and key business topics are covered at an advanced level to provide specific job relevant training.

Speakers Bureau: Educating the public about the department is the goal of the speakers bureau. Employees are trained to deliver accurate and consistent messages about SCDOT's mission. They are available to groups across South Carolina.

Customer Service Survey: SCDOT conducts surveys of the public to establish benchmarks and improve customers' understanding of the agency's mission and functions and to determine how the level of public satisfaction. Surveys are conducted for maintenance operations, traffic engineering/incident responder program, communications and web

Mass Transit Initiatives: SCDOT, through its Mass Transit Division, manages a range of programs including metropolitan planning, Capital Assistance grants, elderly and disabled transit services, rural transit services, statewide planning and research, the Rural Transportation Assistance Program and the State Mass Transit Funds (SMTF). The Mass Transit Division distributes state and federal funds for public transportation services in the state. It works closely with local transit providers to develop and fund demonstration projects and special services to enhance transit services in rural areas of the state. SCDOT-sponsored Smartride is a commuter express bus service in the Columbia metropolitan area.

WORKING BETTER

a. Through resource management.

- Equipment & repair software. The Department has a goal of having a statewide equipment utilization rate of 85 percent, with no district having a utilization rate of less than 75 percent.
- Centralized pick-up & disposal of signs & surplus (Leave some space for a sentence or two here)

b. Through Financial Management.: SCDOT has partnered with FHWA to continue effectively managing construction contracts and to improve the Financial Management Strategic Planning System. using FMSP and other software applications, SCDOT can maximize available resources by enhancing its capability to forecast construction payouts.

c. Through Employee Development: SCDOT University: SCDOT provides training that meets the needs of its employees by using a systematic approach for all organizational learning that is linked to the agency mission and strategic plan. Following the model of the corporate university. Leadership and employee core courses are designed to focus on critical skills necessary for ensuring excellence in workforce development.

SAFETY FIRST

At SCDOT the number one priority is safety, both on the road and off the road. The agency takes the responsibility of safety very seriously.

a. Safe Routes to Schools: The South Carolina Safe Routes to School (SRTS) Program is a federally-funded program designed to enable and encourage children, including those with disabilities, to walk and bicycle to school through infrastructure improvements, education, enforcement, and encouragement programs.

Safe Routes to School was addressed by our State Legislature in 2001 with the enactment of legislation that promotes walking or bicycling to school safely. In this legislation, lawmakers encouraged school districts to establish a Safe Routes to School District Coordinating Committee. The legislation also designates the first Wednesday of October as "Walk or Bicycle with Your Child to School Day." In 2003, The South Carolina Department of Transportation Commission passed a resolution affirming that "bicycling and walking accommodations should be a routine part of the department's planning, design, construction and operating activities, and will be included in the everyday operations of our transportation system." The document further resolves that "counties and municipalities are required to make bicycle and pedestrian improvements an integral part of their transportation planning and programming where State and Federal Highway funding is utilized."

In 2005, Congress created Safe Routes to School and allocated funding through SAFETEA-LU. In July, 2006 a full-time coordinator was hired by SCDOT to manage the program, and the Safe Routes to School Program Office was established. The Office has since assembled a professional steering committee, developed a marketing plan, produced and aired three public service announcements to educate the public, successfully sponsored the Annual Walk to School Day event on Wednesday, October 4, 2006, collected data regarding safety and transportation needs of schools, and began establishing the criteria for disbursement of funds to South Carolina's schools and communities.

b. Emergency Situations: SCDOT personnel respond to numerous emergency situations each year. These responses are critical for the protection of the traveling public. Examples of these emergency situations include but are not limited to:

- Isolated events such as signs down or providing traffic control, i.e a collision scene
- Localized events like providing traffic control for securing a perimeter for safety purposes, i.e. hazardous chemical leak, fires (Graniteville Train Crash or Great Falls Mill Fire)

- Regional events such as working to protect/repair roadways during and after flooding events that affect a number of counties
- Statewide events such as hurricane evacuation or snow and ice weather events (Space for a few sentences here)

3. Law Enforcement: SCDOT, SCDPS, and the Federal Highway Administration have joined in a statewide initiative to improve safety in highway work zones and to reduce speeds on high speed/high crash corridors throughout South Carolina. Twenty-four experienced troopers are exclusively devoted to speed enforcement in highway work zones and on high speed, high crash corridors throughout the state. The troopers form South Carolina's new Safety Improvement Teams (SIT). These SIT teams are divided into four enforcement regions, based on the geographic areas of the state. Each team is comprised of one supervisor and five troopers. The teams are devoting full-time efforts to selective, concentrated and strict enforcement of the state's traffic laws in Safety Improvement Zones identified by SCDOT.

The troopers are patrolling highway and utility construction and maintenance work zones. They are also covering certain sections of interstate, US Primary and SC Primary highways that have a high number of speed-related crashes, as well as the secondary roads that have been identified by SCDOT as high speed crash corridors. The sole focus of SIT team members is the enforcement effort.

MILESTONES

50TH anniversary of interstates: On June 2, SCDOT commemorated the 50th anniversary of the national Interstate System with a celebration and news conference at Headquarters. A special video was presented, detailing the history of the Interstate System in South Carolina, with reflections from some of those who had a part in building it. Special celebrations were conducted during National Transportation week in each engineering district, and "Eisenhower Interstate System" signs were unveiled across the state.

Anniversary, Incident Response: The 10th anniversary of SCDOT's Incident Response Program was commemorated at a news conference in Columbia on April 4, near the stretch of I-26 where the first incident responders began patrolling in April 1996. SCDOT now has 71 Responders patrolling with 28 trucks, assisting stranded motorists and helping to clear the roadways during rush hour traffic.

10th Anniversary of STTARS: SCDOT has celebrated the 10th anniversary of its Strategic Training for Transportation Agency Representatives (STTAR) program. It is a yearlong course for approximately 24 agency employees who exhibit potential for promotion to senior leadership positions in the agency. The agency also has a companion 8-month course, the Strategic Training and Education Program for the 21st Century (STEP-21), to train selected employees for mid-level managerial positions. To date, 177 employees have completed the STEP-21 program.

AWARDS

"Excellence in Financial Reporting": SCDOT has been awarded the Certificate of Achievement for Excellence in Financial Reporting for FY 2004 by the Government Finance Officers Association of the United States and Canada for its comprehensive annual financial report. This is the "highest form of recognition in the area of governmental accounting and financial reporting, and its attainment represents a significant accomplishment by a government and its management," according to the Government Finance Officers Association (GFOA). The award was presented to the Finance Division of SCDOT. SCDOT is not required to prepare a Comprehensive Annual Financial Report, however, SCDOT chose to make this commitment.

National Highway Beautification

Awards: SCDOT swept the 2006 National Alliance of Highway Beautification Agencies (NAHBA) Conference

Awards in Cleveland, Ohio. SCDOT's Outdoor Advertising Office won in the categories of Innovations in Outdoor Advertising and Streamlining and Integration in Outdoor Advertising. The Innovations award was based on the Outdoor Advertising Office's web site, which has many handy features both for SCDOT employees and sign owners.

The second award to Melvin's office was given for streamlining the permitting process by using a new software program. The program cuts down the time for permit approval to as little as three days.

The Chairman's Award was given to SCDOT's Barbara Wessinger of the Legal Office for strong leadership skills as Chairperson of the national organization. SCDOT also won a contest for a new design logo created by Lawton Player.

Introduction

By statute, the Division of Mass Transit must develop and coordinate a general mass transit program and policy for the State of South Carolina in order to encourage the efficient development, implementation, operation, evaluation, and monitoring of mass transit systems, both public and private. The information contained within this report provides comprehensive transit funding data to system operators, public policymakers, legislators, local governments, human service agencies, and others on which to base decision-making for planning, establishment and operation of transit services.

South Carolina has four large urban transit systems located in Charleston, Columbia, Greenville and a portion of the Aiken-Augusta urbanized areas that are included in South Carolina's apportionment. There are five small urban systems—Anderson, Florence, Myrtle Beach, Spartanburg, and Sumter. Thirteen transit providers serve the rural areas of the state. South Carolina has over 125 individual human service agencies that provide transit services to local elderly and disabled persons.

Transit Service Providers

The Division of Mass Transit is the public transportation arm of the SCDOT. It monitors several transit programs and distributes federal and state funds to state transit providers for administration, operations, and capital acquisitions. The Division of Mass Transit also provides funding for coordination of transit services and technical assistance to local transportation providers. In this role, the Mass Transit office works closely with local transit providers to develop and fund demonstration projects and special services to enhance transit services in rural areas of the state.

Local Transit Providers

Local transit providers include locally operated transit systems, regional transportation authorities, and regional transportation management associations. The type of services offered by local transit providers depends on size and population density of the areas to be served. Some agencies provide fixed-route service that operates on a regular timed route, while others offer demand-response service that provides door-to-door transportation.

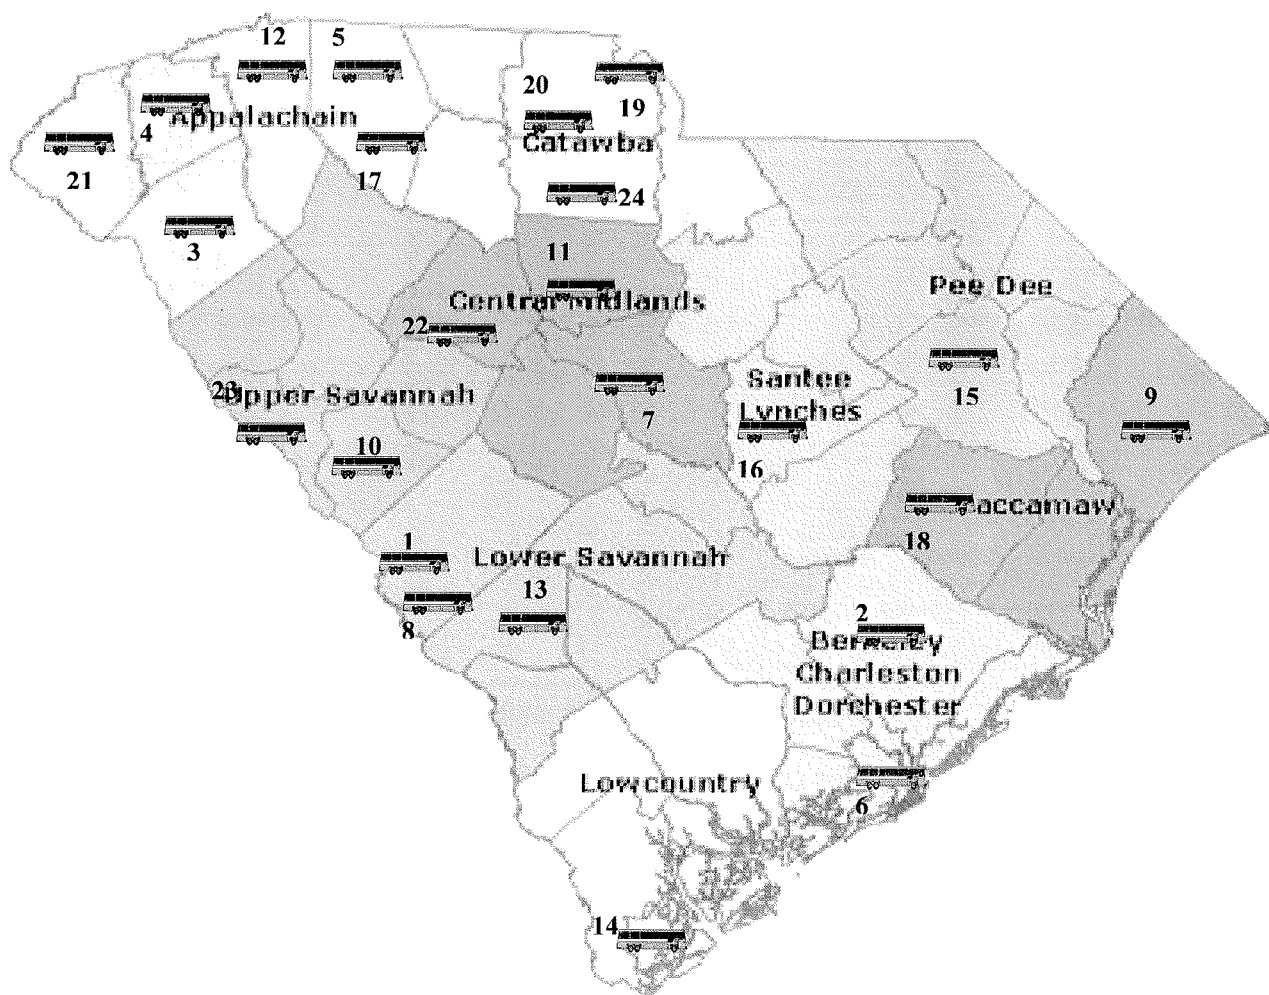

Regional Transportation Management Associations (RTMA) provides transportation services within its respective regions. They coordinate transportation among other agencies in its region to provide low-cost transportation services through purchase of service contracts.

Overview of SCDOT Mass Transit Services

Federal and State Funding Programs

SCDOT manages a number of funding programs available to transportation providers throughout the State. These programs support both public transportation and specialized transportation services:

- ◆ FTA Section 5303—Metropolitan Planning Program—establishes a cooperative, continuous, and comprehensive framework for making transportation investment decisions in metropolitan areas.
- ◆ FTA Section 5309—Capital Assistance Grant Program—funds are used for mass transit capital projects only, such as bus purchases, computers, facility upgrades and rail projects.
- ◆ FTA Section 5310—Elderly and Persons with Disabilities Program—funds are used to assist private non-profit organizations in meeting the transit needs of the elderly and disabled population through vehicle purchases or purchase of service contracts with other transit providers.
- ◆ FTA Section 5311—Rural Non-Urbanized Grant Program—funds are used by transit agencies for administration, operations and capital, in conjunction with providing rural transportation services.
- ◆ FTA Section 5304 (formerly Section 5313(b))—Statewide Planning and Research Program—provides support for national and statewide public transit studies and planning.
- ◆ FTA Section 5311b—Rural Transportation Assistance Program—provides a source of funding to assist in implementing training programs and technical assistance tailored to meet the needs of transit agencies in non-urbanized areas.
- ◆ State Mass Transit Funds (SMTF)—SCDOT receives one-quarter of one cent of the state gasoline tax (approximately $6.0 million) annually and approximately $1.3 million from the State General Fund. The total funding received allows the state to match federal dollars and provide transportation assistance.
- ◆ FTA Section 5316—Job Access and Reverse Commute Program—provides funding for transportation programs that offer job access and reverse commute services. Funds may be used for capital, operating, planning, or administration costs.

Each large and small urban transit provider receives grant funding directly from the Federal Transit Administration (FTA) annually.

- ◆ FTA Section 5307—Urbanized Area Grant Program—funding is made available to designated recipients who must be public bodies with the legal authority to receive and dispense federal funds. Generally, a transportation management area is an urbanized area with a population of 200,000 or more. The Governor, or his designee, is the designated recipient for urbanized areas with a population between 50,000 and 200,000.

Statewide Projects

Statewide Passenger Rail Development

Significant planning has been undertaken to develop rail service in South Carolina. The vision is to have a seamless transportation system that integrates commuter rail, light rail, and bus transportation to provide rapid modes of transportation for the state. These systems working in unison will promote the growth of industry and tourism, making the State of South Carolina an appealing place to live, work and play.

Southeast High-Speed Rail Corridor

Early in 2006, SCDOT hired a special assistant to provide leadership in the area of rail initiatives. In addition, he provided assistance to the Upstate High-Speed Rail (UHSR) Task Force on an as needed basis. The UHSR Task Force has been actively supporting the planning process for the high-speed rail corridor. It held two meetings during the year. The UHSR Task Force has done an excellent job of promoting the economic development value of high-speed rail service in South Carolina.

SCDOT has partnered with Georgia DOT and North Carolina DOT to commission the national Volpe Center to undertake and complete an engineering study for the development of a high-speed rail line from Charlotte to Atlanta/Macon, with planned stops in South Carolina. Volpe Center officials announced that the plan would be completed and presented in Atlanta in February 2007.

Central Midlands Rail Transit Feasibility Study

The rail transit feasibility study to identify possible commuter rail routes for the Central Midlands Region was launched in early fall 2005 and, in the fall of 2006, it was completed and presented to the Central Midland Council of Governments (COG). The consultant, URS Corporation, considered several proposed routes that were first identified in an earlier study by the firm of R.L. Banks & Associates. Existing freight rail lines were analyzed to determine which ones have the greatest maximum potential for ridership and their potential for upgrading to accommodate passenger service. The study considered commuter rail lines from Camden, Newberry, and Batesburg/Leesville into Columbia. The only line that was considered viable at this time was the Camden to Columbia line. Central Midlands COG now has the study recommendations under advisement.

Statewide Transportation Plan

In early 2006, SCDOT kicked-off development of the Statewide Multimodal Transportation Plan. This planning effort includes three major elements; a Statewide Corridor Plan, a Statewide Mass Transit Plan, and a Statewide Railroad Rights-of-Way Preservation Plan. The purpose of the plan is to develop policies and practices that provide the best system of transportation for passengers and freight to meet the needs and conditions in South Carolina. The policies and practices for transit, rail and highway planning and implementation may differ, but each will be developed with the purpose of optimizing the utilization of each and, if appropriate, facilitating a shift from one mode to another.

The railroad rights-of-way planning task will include the preliminary efforts of identifying existing rail corridors in the state, which are abandoned or may be abandoned in the future that could have potential for passenger/commuter rail service. The Statewide Transportation Plan will address service, capital, financial, and policy needs and strategies by way of short-term regional plans and a longer-term statewide plan. It is anticipated that the project will be completed in late 2007.

SmartRide Commuter Bus Service

SmartRide was the name given to the four-week transit research project conducted by the SCDOT during October 2003. The goal of the SmartRide project was designed to explore the feasibility of establishing a mass transit commuter system in the Columbia metropolitan area. The outstanding success of this project initiated the continuation of commuter services as an additional program within the SCDOT.

The original pilot project established in 2004 focused on weekday commuter services to the Columbia metropolitan area from the communities of Camden-Lugoff and Newberry. The overall ridership level for the two routes during the period from July 2004 through June 2005 was 16,065 passenger boardings, as shown in Graph 1 below.

Passenger boardings continued to increase on both of the routes during FY 2005-2006 (Graph 2). The Camden-Lugoff route had a 44.5% passenger boarding increase and the Newberry route had a 32.5% passenger boarding increase. The total ridership increase for the SmartRide program for FY 2005-2006 was 38.7%.

Virtual Transit Enterprise (VTE) Project

The VTE project is a federally funded intelligent transportation system (ITS) project geared toward managing the operations of South Carolina's public transit providers. The project has four main focus areas: communication, electronic reporting/invoicing, automated scheduling and dispatching, and fleet maintenance management.

The VTE vision is to design, develop, demonstrate and implement technology solutions which will enable South Carolina's mass transit providers to remotely and cost-effectively share information, resources and software applications, coordinate provision of service within a region, and accomplish their operational and business-related activities in a more timely and accurate manner.

As this project enters its final stages, it has received positive interest throughout the country. Other states inquire about the successes and lessons learned as they gear-up for their ITS initiatives. The State of South Carolina and its public transportation providers will continue to explore technical advances to improve coordination of transportation and efficient use of resources.

SCDOT's opportunity to realize its original vision of creating a "virtual transit enterprise" in South Carolina rests with the building the VTE website and establishing a "grants management" system to automate the administrative process of federal and state funding applications from agencies statewide.

Additionally, SCDOT is moving forward with the evaluation of Automated Vehicle Locator (AVL)/Mobile Data Computer (MDC) technology which, through real-time assessment, further enhances a provider's ability to efficiently and effectively utilize valuable resources and meet patron's needs in a timely manner.

Statewide Vehicle Acquisition and Replacement Program

The initial objective of the program is to maximize use of congressional earmarks, along with providing a financing option through the State Treasurer's Office in the absence of future earmarks. These initiatives, along with placing large transit buses on state contract, will assist each transit agency in acquiring much needed replacement vehicles.

Since 2001, SCDOT worked diligently to develop and manage a vehicle acquisition program to provide transit vehicles to all public transportation providers. As of January 2007, SCDOT has been awarded six congressional earmarks, totaling $34.6 million, to assist in replacing aging transit vehicles. Vehicle inventories of each public transit agency are reviewed annually so that current needs are identified. To date, 254 vehicles have been delivered.

PROGRAM FUNDING

Fiscal Year	FY 2004	FY 2005	FY 2006
Federal	$3,883,494	$3,887,113	$3,398,670
State	$795,414	$796,156	$1,591,570*
Total	$4,678,908	$4,683,269	$4,990,240

*State funds needed to match federal funds

SCDOT is currently developing a data template for better assessing statewide vehicle needs, through the development of a data gathering and analysis framework and vehicle utilization reports. New and replacement vehicle acquisition priorities, as well the appropriateness of transferring existing vehicles between areas of varying needs, will be determined.

SCDOT will request detailed vehicle and ridership data for validation purposes and will conduct on-site reviews, as appropriate to determine vehicle needs. Draft vehicle expansion and replacement figures will be developed for each provider, at which point the providers will be offered the opportunity to defend their requests, should it be deemed necessary. Final figures will be developed for both actual fleet need (to include necessary spares) and excess capacity.

SCDOT will maintain a current and comprehensive inventory of transit vehicles throughout the state, including their condition. Based on the existing statewide inventory, a final determination will be made on whether the identified vehicle needs should be addressed by way of acquisition or transfer from other providers with excess capacity. For vehicles identified for acquisition they will be prioritized based on funding availability. Through this new approach, funding flexibility will be maximized in an efficient and effective manner.

Provider Performance Measurement Project

SCDOT is developing a program for compiling and analyzing transit provider data and operating statistics, as well as operating and capital financial information. This program will be used for tracking data for each provider for the purpose of reporting to the National Transit Database; vehicle needs assessment, funding needs assessment, trend analyses, performance measurement, and end-of-year reporting. The program is designed to encompass data for all needs in one location for ease of provider submittal, analysis, decision-making and reporting. Further, SCDOT will be able to aggregate the data on a regional and statewide level, as well as provide an annual "state of transit" in visual form at the state, regional and local levels that can be used by SCDOT, local providers and planning organizations.

For funding decision-making purposes, the net result will be multiple quantified sources of information with built-in data checks that can be crosschecked with staff's day-to-day working knowledge of the providers. Face-to-face meetings will also be a part of this decision-making process with providers to address any differences in their requests and staff recommendations.

Coordination of Transportation Services in South Carolina

Establishing A Human Services Transportation Coordination Council

On February 24, 2004, President Bush issued an Executive Order to enhance transportation access, improve employment opportunities, and provide community services for persons who are transportation disadvantaged. The national "United We Ride" program that followed is a national commitment to eliminate barriers, simplify access, enhance cost effectiveness, reduce duplication, and identify useful practices in coordinating human service transportation.

The South Carolina General Assembly mandated SCDOT to carry out and enhance statewide coordination planning for public transportation funding and resources; but SCDOT does not have the authority to fully meet this requirement. In an effort to comply, SCDOT attempted to hold state agency partnering meetings with agencies that provide transportation services. Three separate meetings were called over a three-year period, with only one agency attending.

In February 2005, SCDOT was successful in convening a meeting of the state agency heads to discuss coordination of transportation within South Carolina. Each agency expressed that there was a serious need to coordinate transportation in South Carolina and to establish a council to develop and implement statewide public transportation coordination plans to improve access and mobility through coordination of transportation services for older adults and person with disabilities and low income.

Attempts to schedule additional meetings with state agency directors have been extremely difficult. A meeting was scheduled for October 2005, but was cancelled due to a lack of response from agency directors. Another attempt was made to schedule a meeting in December 2005; however, only three agency directors would be in attendance. Due to the limited response from agency directors and the fact that the South Carolina Department of Health and Human Services (DHHS) and the South Carolina Department of Social Services (DSS) would not be in attendance, it was decided to cancel this meeting.

During this time, DHHS and DSS were in the process of releasing separate requests for proposals for a "transportation broker" that would schedule transportation for its clients. SCDOT encouraged DHHS and DSS to join forces and develop one request that would benefit both agencies and serve as a model to enhance coordination efforts statewide. This was not possible because of federal regulations. SCDOT continues to work with DHHS and DSS as they implement transportation brokerage services.

As stated earlier, the General Assembly mandated SCDOT to be the lead in coordination efforts in the state. Even though SCDOT has not been able to fully reach the agencies and as progress had been very slow because there is not a buy-in from all state agency directors, SCDOT continuously works with county and regional human service offices to develop coordination opportunities, and is moving quickly toward regional coordination planning and execution.

Regional Coordination Plans

SCDOT originally envisioned developing a statewide coordination plan, to be followed by the development of local or regional plans. It was thought that through a statewide coordinating council, policies, objectives and strategies would be developed and implemented throughout the state. However, recognizing that those who know the needs and issues of the traveling public best are those that benefit from face-to-face contact with clients and customers in implementing public transportation services on the ground, SCDOT has elected to first develop regional coordination plans that will then form the foundation for a statewide coordination plan.

Such an approach will allow for the direct involvement of local decision-makers, providers and advocates in the development of human services transportation coordination policies, strategies and identification of projects affecting their communities. It will also afford them a substantial ownership stake in the overall planning process and facilitate their direct involvement in the long-term coordination and provision of transportation services in their region.

SCDOT, in partnership with the regional COG, is developing ten regional coordinated plans that will incorporate activities offered under FTA programs as well as other programs sponsored by Federal, State and local agencies. Other programs include FTA's Section 5307 and 5311 programs, Temporary Assistance for Needy Families (TANF), Workforce Investment Act (WIA), Vocational Rehabilitation, Medicaid, Community Action (CAP), Independent Living Centers, and Agency on Aging (AOA) programs.

The coordinated plan format will be the same across all ten regions of the state, while development and content will be specific to the needs and issues of each COG. The development of the coordinated plans is not meant to replace the efforts currently underway in specific areas of the state; but in those cases, can be used to document and, where necessary, expand on those efforts in a consistent format. The coordinated plans will be developed to address intra- and inter-regional needs and issues in a manner that allows the COGs to adapt and expand the plans to incorporate programs and initiatives specific to their regions.

Each coordinated plan's development will, at a minimum:

- Assess and document transportation needs in each region for individuals with disabilities, older adults, and persons with limited incomes;
- Inventory available services in each region and identify areas of redundancy and gaps in service;
- Identify and document restrictions on eligibility for funding;
- Identify and document short- and long-range strategies in each region to address the identified gaps in service, including mobility management strategies;
- Identify and document technological resources currently available and appropriate for coordination of transportation services;
- Identify and document coordination actions in each region to eliminate or reduce duplication in services and strategies for more efficient utilization of resources; and
- Document and prioritize implementation strategies to increase coordination of transportation services in each region.

The coordinated plans will be developed through a process that includes representatives of public, private and nonprofit transportation and human service providers. The overall process will be coordinated with the Statewide Transit Plan currently underway where possible to minimize costs and avoid duplication in effort. The findings and results of the Barriers to Statewide Coordination of Transportation Services study currently undertaken by Clemson University will also be utilized to minimize costs and avoid duplication.

SCDOT will compile the key issues, needs and implementation strategies from each coordinated plan into a statewide Executive Summary that will serve as the foundation for development of a truly integrated inter-agency statewide coordination plan. The anticipated completion date for this far-reaching project will be September 2007.

Coordination Efforts in Councils of Government Regions

Lower Savannah Regional Transportation Management Association

Partners were at first somewhat indifferent or reluctant to consider the merits of working together to increase efficiency; through team-building activities, the COG effected change in attitudes and built a group vision of the possibilities for becoming more effective by working together. Partners identified their needs, the obstacles they saw to reducing inefficiencies and their ideas for making better use of existing resources, saving money, improving service and expediting their operations. Providers of transportation service in each county were duplicating trips over many of the same routes to many common destinations. As a result, the COG developed both a work plan and a communications plan

Bamberg County Transit System Project

Bamberg County is one of the most economically deprived areas of South Carolina and has seen a steady decline in population since the 1930's. Recently, a system was started in Allendale County that allowed medical and human service providers to coordinate their existing resources, i.e. routes, vehicles, transportation dollars and/or drivers and share the empty seats on their vehicles so that members of the general public could ride on human service vehicles.

Noting the success of the Allendale transit system, Bamberg County leaders began working in 2005 with Lower Savannah COG to replicate the "share the ride" concept. In less than 12 months, the Bamberg County Transit system, known as the "Handy Ride," began operation. The Bamberg system shares the services of the Allendale County Mobility Manager for coordination of vehicles and trips, resulting in a large cost savings to both projects. This allows for more vehicles to be a part of the "sharing" pool since residents from both counties travel into each other's areas. Again, no new vehicles were purchased – there was simply a better utilization of existing equipment to provide services to all members of the general public.

Coordination of transportation services is securely entrenched in the LSCOG region because of the dedicated people who refuse to yield to difficult issues or barriers.

Lower Savannah Regional Mobility Management Center Project

The Lower Savannah Regional Mobility Management Center Project is an approach to service development and management that focuses on individualized customer markets, establishing a variety of services tailored to meet the needs of those markets, entails a responsibility for establishing a coordinated service delivery network, achieve connectivity for customers and efficiency for taxpayers, and to design and manage the transportation infrastructure so that the services developed can perform effectively and efficiently.

This project has the support of all counties in the LSCOG region (Aiken, Allendale, Bamberg, Barnwell, Calhoun, and Orangeburg); and two regional transit providers from neighboring councils of government (Santee Wateree Regional Transportation Authority and Lowcountry Regional Transportation Authority).

The project is broken down into three phases that began in the spring of 2006 and is expected to become operational by early 2008. Funding to help with the development and implementation of the project comes from Centers for Medicare and Medicaid Services, through the Lt. Governor's Office on Aging; United We Ride, through the SCDOT; and from the UW Department of Transportation through the Mobility Services for All Americans initiative—a recent grant to LSCOG as one of only eight recipients in the country. This grant will provide help to identify and outline the specific transportation technologies, suited to a rural area, needed to make the center and the regional system most effective.

Santee Lynches Council of Government Coordination Development

The Santee-Lynches COG (SLCOG) was selected to be the lead in developing a coordination strategy for the Santee-Lynches region. Santee Wateree Regional Transportation Authority has worked closely with SLCOG in identifying coordination opportunities. This initiative is another opportunity for a regional COG to exercise regional leadership in the development of a coordinated transit system to serve Kershaw, Lee, Sumter, and Clarendon Counties.

Other COG Regions

Coordination studies have also been undertaken through the Catawba and Lowcountry COGs to develop plans to coordinate funding and resources. The vision is to include neighboring COG regions through partnering meetings. This “snowball effect” will be fostered through the current development of regional coordination plans as other COG regions recognize the efficiency and effectiveness of coordinated transportation.

Elderly And Persons With Disabilities (Section 5310) Initiative

The Elderly and Persons with Disabilities Program (Section 5310) provides assistance to private non-profit organizations in meeting the transit needs of the elderly and disabled population through vehicles purchases or purchase of service contracts with other transit providers.

For the past several years, SCDOT has been the administrator of funding that primarily was used to purchase vehicles for agencies that served elderly and persons with disabilities. Each year the funding application would state that a conscience effort must be made to coordinate and contract with other agencies in the area through purchase of service contracts to provide transportation. Each year SCDOT purchased more and more vehicles instead of encouraging coordination.

In 2003, with the adoption of a new policy by the SCDOT Commission, the Mass Transit office only funded vehicle purchases if the provider could justify that no other agency in their local area can provide transportation services. The intent behind purchase of service contracts instead of purchasing vehicles was to encourage coordination, reduce the overall vehicle fleet, and open communications among service agencies that ultimately may lead to a reduction in duplicative services. This is but one more step in the pursuit of organizing a coordinated transportation system in the State of South Carolina.

Interstate Transportation Coordination

Aiken County “Best Friends Express” bus service is partnering with the City of North Augusta and the City of Augusta, Georgia, to provide a connection to the Augusta Public Transit System. With the new connection to Augusta, the potential exists to offer service from Orangeburg to Augusta.

There is also collaboration between the City of Rock Hill and the Charlotte Area Transit System to provide transportation services from the City of Rock Hill to Charlotte, North Carolina, for daily commuters. Additional service to the Charlotte Metro Area is currently being studied.

SCDOT staff met with NCDOT staff in late 2006 to exchange ideas and best practices regarding data, vehicle and funding needs assessment, and coordination planning. Follow-up discussion with NCDOT indicates that this would be the first of regularly scheduled information exchanges between the two states, which are now being looked at for expansion to other state DOTs in the southeast region.

Meetings with Providers

The SCDOT meets regularly with public transit providers and human service organizations to seek input on key issues that affect South Carolina’s transit industry. These meetings provide a forum in which local staff members can share information to enhance the quality of transportation services.

Partnering With Planning Organizations

SCDOT is partnering with the ten COGs) and Metropolitan Planning Organizations (MPOs) in addressing local and regional coordination. SLCOG was selected to be the lead in developing a coordination strategy for the Santee-Lynches region.

Santee Wateree Regional Transportation Authority will be working closely with the SLCOG in identifying coordination opportunities. This initiative is another opportunity for the regional COG to exercise regional leadership in the development of a coordinated transit system to serve Kershaw, Lee, Sumter, and Clarendon Counties.

Coordination studies are also ongoing in the Catawba and Lowcountry COGs to develop plans to coordinate funding and resources. The vision is to include neighboring COG regions through partnering meetings. The hope is that a “snowball effect” will be fostered and that other COG regions will recognize the efficiency and effectiveness of coordinated transportation.
